

Modifying General Relativity: is it worth?

Diego Sáez-Gómez
U. of Lisbon & ACGC - U. of Cape Town

Fecha:

Martes 05 de mayo
10:00 h.

Lugar:

Sala de Conferencias
CFMAC (CSIC), c/ Serrano, 121

Abstract: In this talk I will review some models of modified gravities and their features from a classical point of view. Over the last years, modified gravities have drawn much attention within the cosmological context since they can reproduce with great accuracy the late-time acceleration and even the inflationary epoch. I will show the pros and cons of some of the main proposals.